

Cape Cod Training Program: The Third Week

Advanced Training in the Cape Cod Model

Dates	March 15-20, 2018 Begins Thursday, 3pm Ends Tuesday, 11am
Fee	(All meals and accommodations included) Private room: $2,625 Shared room (as available): $2,400
CE hours	34 - APA, ICF
Faculty	Carol Brockmon, LCSW, and Joseph Melnick, PhD
Location	Pendle Hill Retreat and Conference Center, Greater Philadelphia Area

This new program is designed to deepen your understanding and practice of the Cape Cod Model[®]. Practitioners will have the opportunity to increase their competency with the Cape Cod Model, with a goal of enhancing their ability to intervene with confidence and high impact in their work with individuals, couples, families, groups and teams. Additionally, participants will be supported to continue to explore their own personal development, with an opportunity to identify professional "blind-spots" as well as their personal and professional "growing edge."

This five-day program is open only to graduates of the Cape Cod Training Program (CCTP) and is structured to increase the learning and practice of core principles of the model. New theory and concepts (not covered in the first two weeks of the Cape Cod Training Program) will be introduced. Class size will be limited to provide a concentrated, accelerated learning environment, as well as ample opportunity for daily practice and feedback from senior faculty.

Benefits

Participants will:

- Gain experience in noticing and appreciating resistance
- Learn how to see a system through additional lenses such as "strategic/intimate" behaviors and the cycle of experience
- Increase their awareness and expand their range of personal and professional presence
- Gain experience in creating and maintaining trust with a client or client system
- Develop further insights into how to effectively intervene in a system
- Practice creating, introducing, and debriefing Gestalt experiments
- Have an opportunity for extensive practice with experienced colleagues under the guidance of senior faculty.

Participants

This program is designed for graduates of the Cape Cod Training Program, an internationally recognized approach that is optimistic in philosophy, and designed for high impact.

ICF has certified this course for 34 core competency hours.
